All students are expected to attend all face-to-face classes. Students who are on a Student Visa must adhere to their visa conditions. Late arrivals or prolonged breaks may result in refusal of entry to the UK.

Absence is defined as not attending a scheduled engagement without approved reasons. Authorised absence requires exceptional circumstances with evidence and prior notification. Failure to attend without approval will result in a mark of “absent” for that engagement. Prompt and timely attendance is crucial for maintaining good attendance.

Student Responsibilities:

- If unwell, inform College Services before class and provide a doctor's letter for extended illness.
- For important appointments, seek permission from College Services and provide evidence.
- In case of serious personal problems or other valid reasons for absence, contact College Services to discuss the situation.
- Complete and email the Explained Absence Form and/or Leave of Absence Form to College Services with necessary evidence.

The Engagement Process

- Weeks 1-4: Students below 85% receive warning letters via email.
- Weeks 5-11: Continued monitoring of attendance with corresponding actions such as summary emails, warning emails/calls, face-to-face meetings, and issuing intention to withdrawal letters for students whose attendance is below the required threshold.
- Week 11/12 is exclusively dedicated to exam related activities.

Examination stress tips

It is normal to feel some level of stress when preparing for examinations. Managing examination stress can be a challenging task for students, but with the right strategies, it is possible to reduce stress and perform well on your examinations. Here are some tips for managing examination stress:

- 1. Plan and organise: Prepare a study plan well in advance of the exam. Set a timeline and create a study schedule that allows for regular breaks.
- 2. Avoid distractions: Don't try to revise too many subjects in the same revision session, this may cause confusion. It is better to do one small thing well, rather than several things badly.
- 3. Practice self-care: Make sure to have a healthy diet, get enough sleep, and exercise regularly. Taking care of your physical health can help to reduce stress and improve your overall well-being. Reward yourself after completing a revision session.
- 4. Use relaxation techniques: Deep breathing, meditation, and visualization are all effective relaxation techniques that can help to reduce stress and anxiety.
- 5. Think positive: Positive thinking and self-talk can help to reduce negative thoughts. Using positive affirmations, such as "I am capable of doing well on this exam."
- 6. On the day of examination: Arrive at the examination room 30 minutes before the official start time. Have what you need ready the night before.
- 7. Seek support: Talk to friends, family, or a counsellor if you are feeling stressed. Sharing your concerns with others can help to alleviate stress. We are always here to talk with you!

If you are feeling overwhelmed, talk to the College Services Team (Tel: 01707 285282).

Academic Misconduct

As a student, it is important to uphold the values of integrity and honesty in all aspects of your academic work. Academic misconduct is a serious offense that can jeopardise your studies and your degree. We encourage all students to familiarise themselves with this information and to take responsibility for maintaining the highest standards of academic integrity. Students must accept responsibility for their own learning thus ensuring that they learn independently using initiative and self-discipline.

1. Plagiarism, which includes various forms of representing others' work as one's own without acknowledgment, such as copying, summarising, or using ideas without proper attribution, is strictly prohibited. This applies to any written work, creative expression, or computer programs. Additionally, submitting the same assignment for multiple modules, including retaking a module, is considered plagiarism and is not allowed. Plagiarism is unacceptable in all assessed work, including closed book exams. Written assignments should generally be submitted through the Turnitin on Moodle, and a Turnitin score of 40% or higher should raise concerns.

2. Self-plagiarism, also known as double submission, occurs when a student submits the same work or a significant portion of it for assessment on multiple occasions, including submissions made at previous institutions. Reusing text or research data without proper referencing is considered self-plagiarism. During the resit period, students can make amendments to their paper and resubmit it, but retaking a module requires a full rewrite of the assignment.

3. Collusion, essay purchasing, and AI-generated essays are strictly prohibited. Collusion refers to working together to produce assessed work in forbidden circumstances, such as representing someone else's work as one's own or taking credit for work done by others. Unless explicitly designated as group work, all assessments should be carried out and presented individually. While students can confer and share information and strategies during the learning and research process, they should not share the structure, content, and specifics of an assignment or examination. Allegations of collusion or essay purchasing can lead to a Viva.

Academic misconduct outcomes and grade penalties are determined based on investigations. These outcomes include:

- MAN (Mark as Normal)
- MBE (Mark but Exclude)
- MBC (Mark but Capped)
- NMG (No Mark Given).

Allegations of academic misconduct and the decisions made are recorded in College Management Team meetings. Students have the right to appeal the outcome of an academic investigation following the procedures outlined in CPRs QS10 and QS11.

Value for Money

Navitas University Partnerships Europe (UPE) works with its university partners to support all of its students with settling into studying in a new environment and subsequently progressing onto the degree of their choice. This presents a wide range of international and domestic students with an opportunity of degree level study, one which they may not have been able to access previously as a result of academic, English Language, financial or other barriers.
