Assessment Regulations

Summary:

The programme is compliant with both the generic assessment regulations of Navitas UK and those of the College, see CPR OS9.

In-course written, reading, listening and oral assessments are built into all levels of pre-sessional English through general interaction between tutors and students, student peer review and small group tutorials or individual tutorials/appraisals. Modes of assessment include essay/report writing, oral presentation (group or individual, and poster), portfolio, and e-based, in-class or take home exercises/tests.

All written assessments must follow certain criteria in style and submission as noted in the relevant Module Content Guides and Student Guide. This form of assessment is considered fundamental to a student's ability to communicate ideas and evidence with clarity, relevance and logic in a planned and organised manner. Plain writing style, syntax and grammar are core skills that can be enhanced to support the maturing of individual students' composition and thus academic and transferable proficiency.

Oral presentations, whether part of formal or informal assessment practice, are encouraged within all modules as they promote, among others, transferable skills and can identify those students who may be plagiarising material.

Final summative examination normally adheres to closed-book, invigilated, timed conditions and takes place during allocated exam periods of a programme. It represents a more abstract measure of a student's achievement as a consequence of the Specific LOs associated within a specific course. It is utilised as a key measure of quality in teaching standards and provides a basis to aspects of delivery and environment which takes place at the conclusion of a semester by College academic services, see CPR QS9. Marks indicated within the course cannot be referred. Only in extenuating circumstances, sickness, personal tragedy or in the possibility of a clerical error, will deferral take place, see CPR QS9.

Formal assessment modalities (coursework and examination, respectively), combine to produce the weightings applied to any given level of study. Successful completion of a specific level is based on attaining the required overall pass grade prescribed.

All assessment items in the Intensive English Language (IEL) course are marked using specially created marking guides. Marking is based on the language, structural and style elements needed to successfully achieve the assessment. These marking guides are given to the student when the assignment is returned.

For each of the genre (weekly) essays and the research report, students must hand in a draft assignment which is then discussed (conferenced) with the teacher before submission of the final draft the following day.

Where a student has a special need or disability, appropriate steps must be taken by the College, academic staff and/or internal/external invigilators to ensure that the need is recognised and a justified outcome identified, see CPR QS9.

Moderation

IEL teachers are required to undertake moderation sessions. Moderation is the process where both the validity (testing what we say we are testing) and reliability (ensuring students of similar skill level are receiving the same mark) of marking are checked by discussing and agreeing on how student samples meet or do not meet performance criteria. Where there is total agreement, these examples become standard benchmarks to be used by teachers. Moderation is a continual process of checking and evaluation.

Progression Criteria	Summary: All entrants are assessed at the final point of the course, in this case at the end of Intensive English Language B (IELB). There are assessments held at the end of each level point, Intensive English Language D (IELD), and Intensive English Language C (IELC). However, these do not form the overall pass / fail grade of the course (this only occurs in Intensive English Language B (IELB). There is no progression to the University Partner; the course goes from IELD, IELC and IELB.
	The overall minimum pass mark is 50% averaged across all assessments.
